Welcome!

Well, that was quite the shocker when Pierce's craggy face loomed up on our tellies last week, and the nation realised he was the man who was going to end Graham's life. Kudos to Emmerdale for delivering a fantastic twist. But the question is, how twisted has Pierce become? And what's in store for Rhona now he's back?

"How twisted has Pierce become?"

While it seems Pierce has gone classic soap psycho (consider the evidence – he's grown a beard, lost the ability to use hair product and battered someone to death in cold blood), actor Jonathan Wrather tells us on p10 that things may be a little more complicated than that...

And talking of shock returns, the lure of a lovely big slice of birthday cake (oh, and perhaps the imminent birth of his child) is set to bring Keanu back to Walford for the big 35th anniversary episodes next month, and we have some sneak pics over on p14.

Geoff's cruellest trick yet!

YASMEEN TRAPPED AND TERRIFIED AS HER EVIL HUSBAND CROSSES A LINE...

Nasty Geoff is tightening his grip on Yasmeen

Yasmeen needs Geoff to do a disappearing act

Wicked Geoff pulls an unforgivable stunt this week, leaving terrified Yasmeen shaken to the core...

After the magician forces Yasmeen to take part in his 'crushed in a box' routine for a children's birthday party, mortified Geoff blames Yasmeen when the trick doesn't go to plan. So when the pair get home, he sadistically traps her for real – locking his wife in the box again while he heads off down the pub!

The cruel irony of Yasmeen's nightmare is that, on the same day, Alya wants to treat her grandma to a relaxing massage – until Geoff scuppers their plans by roping Yasmeen into being his magician's assistant at Michael's daughter's party.

“Geoff doesn't want Yasmeen to spend time with Alya...”

“Geoff doesn't want Yasmeen to spend the day with Alya,” sighs Shelley King, who plays Yasmeen. “He is so instinctive and determined to isolate her from her family, despite Yasmeen telling him that she doesn't cope well with enclosed spaces.”

Yasmeen suffers from claustrophobia, so the last thing she wants is to clamber into a box while showman Geoff performs his act. Nevertheless, Yasmeen does as her husband asks – only for him to turn on her when it all goes pear-shaped.

“The audience is laughing and taunting Geoff, but it is all in good humour,” insists Shelley. “Initially, when Yasmeen gets out of the box she is really happy, because everyone is having a good time.”

INSIDE SCOOP

However, when Geoff discovers that a video of the cock-up has been posted online, he loses it and trolls Yasmeen with the footage. Interestingly, he also has a pop at Tim, who is surprised that his father isn't able to see the funny side of the whole thing.

Tim just sees a snapshot of Geoff's true colours, though, while Yasmeen continues to bear the brunt of his fury.

"Of course, what she hasn't accounted for is that his ego has been dented," shares Shelley. "When they are back at the house, he begins to berate Yasmeen, saying it's her fault and pushing the video in her face very aggressively. She's very scared as Geoff is physically stronger, and Yasmeen feels threatened."

The worst of his awful abuse is still to come, however, as Geoff dupes Yasmeen into getting into his magic box again, under the ruse that he's making some amendments to the design.

The horrifying reality is that Geoff wants to teach Yasmeen a lesson.

Tim can't quite believe the scenario he's stumbled upon

Once she is inside the box, he fetches his keys and locks Yasmeen in – before heading off to the Rovers!

"Yasmeen doesn't know it's deliberate," reveals Shelley. "She's aware that Geoff has left the house, but she doesn't know that he locked her in. She panics and starts beating the inside of the box."

To Yasmeen's astonishment, though, it's not Geoff who lets her out – but Tim! Geoff's horrified when he returns home to find the pair sitting on the sofa together, and is confronted by sceptical Tim, who doesn't quite believe his dad's excuses.

As Yasmeen is forced to confront the idea that Geoff deliberately imprisoned her – and more people gradually catch on to his behaviour – will he finally be brought to account for his abuse?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

"I hope women like Yasmeen don't feel alone any more"

Shelley tells us how valuable her Corrie story has been for people...

Hi, Shelley. What do you think Yasmeen saw in Geoff in the beginning?

Yasmeen is like so many women of my age – she was alone, then this man walked into her life and began to take care of her. Geoff is charming, and he knows how to talk to women...

We hear you met a survivor of coercive control. Has that helped you to play such a complex role?

It really made me appreciate the care that has been taken here at Coronation Street to understand, and to let the time span play out properly. The lady I spoke to told me about her own experiences, which weren't unlike Yasmeen's.

We also are in regular touch with charity Women's Aid.

What has the audience's reaction been like?

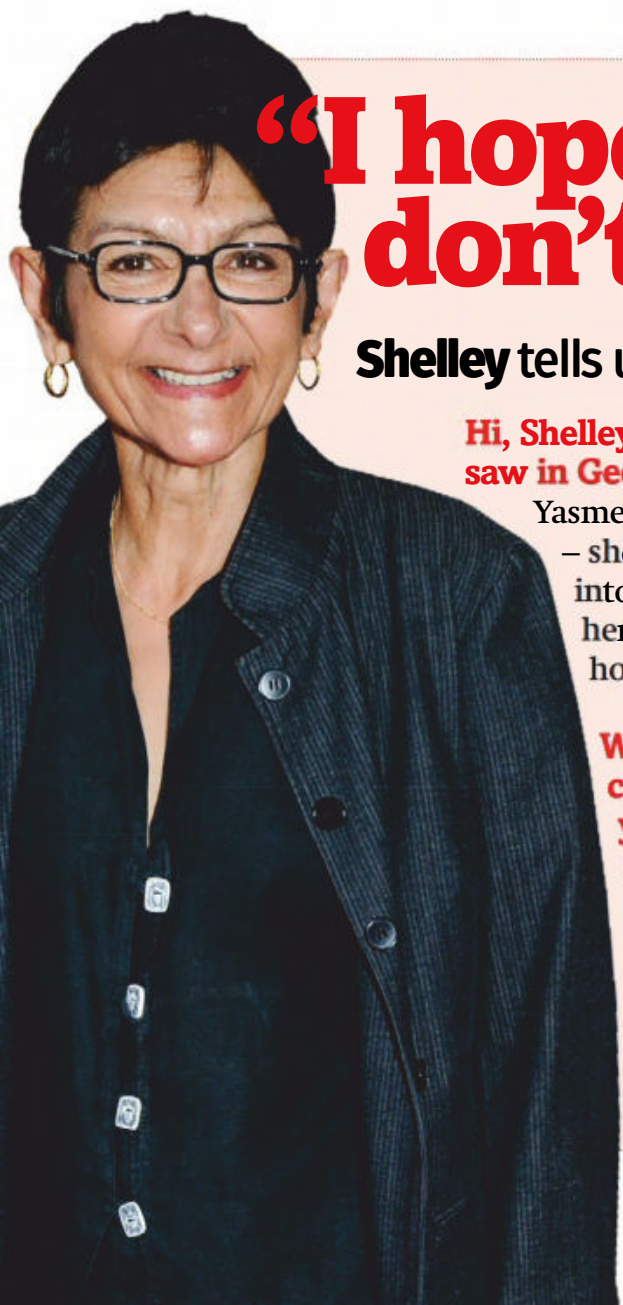

Many people have come up to me and said they know someone, or they are someone, who has been through this. They think that what they see with Geoff and Yasmeen allows them some sort of recognition, and they don't feel isolated. They want to speak to me about it. Hopefully they don't feel alone any more.

Do you feel a sense of responsibility?

Yes, definitely. The thing about Corrie is the huge number of people it reaches. It is so valuable, and I am so proud of what we are doing.

Yasmeen's story is proving an important one to tell

Marlon's prison hell – as April runs away!

EMMERDALE | ITV MONDAY

WITH HIS DAUGHTER
MISSING, HOW LONG WILL INNOCENT
MARLON BE BANGED UP FOR?

Broken Marlon is informed that April has done a runner

There's fresh hell for jailed Marlon this week, when his daughter April flees the village.

Having been arrested for killing Graham, on the back of seemingly damning evidence, Marlon is already trapped in a living nightmare. But hearing that his daughter has run away pushes him over the edge – and he tries to break out of jail!

“Marlon is in a terrible place,” sighs star Mark Charnock, who plays him. “So when news reaches him that April has run away, he loses his mind. It's the worst possible scenario, as he can't control the situation – and he just goes nuts. He starts fighting with a prison guard and is dragged back to his cell, screaming...”

After being charged with Graham's murder, Marlon is desperate to convince the police that they have the wrong man while he awaits trial.

But with the evidence against him stacking up, the prospect of a lengthy stint behind bars looms horrifyingly large.

“The outlook is genuinely bleak,” admits Mark. “Marlon knows the evidence the police have, and it looks bad. He can see why they think what they think, although he just can't her from doing so. So despite the fact that she is desperate to see her dad, they fib that only adults are allowed a visiting order. But it's April's despair about the scenario that prompts the youngster to run away.

“Marlon thinks April seeing him in this horrible place will damage her,” explains Mark. “She's had so much heartache in her life – including losing her mum, Donna, in such a tragic way – and Marlon doesn't want to devastate her any more. He's misguided, in my opinion, but he's trying to protect her.”

In the wake of April fleeing, and the prison showdown that follows, locked-up Marlon is at his wits' end and can barely see a way forward.

“I've said it before, but parenthood is everything to Marlon, so to hear what's happened to April drives him virtually insane,” shares Mark. “The guilt is awful, and he essentially thinks it's all his fault. Metaphorically speaking, the walls are closing in on him, and Marlon's ready to give up. Basically, he's hanging on to his sanity by a thread...”

Can Cain keep Marlon from harm?

Of all the Dingles, Marlon's one of the least likely to have ended up in jail – but his clan is determined to support him every step of the way. And as Mandy launches a 'Free Marlon' campaign in the village, Cain steps up as his most vital prison mentor...

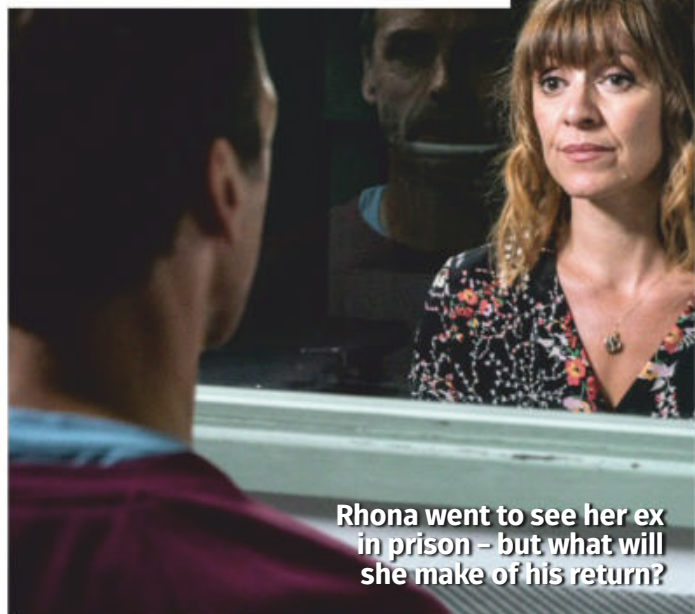

“The Dingles swing right behind Marlon, and he's touched by the campaign,” grins Mark. “When his friends and family visit him, they all perform different functions – and the purpose of Cain's visit is to train him how to behave in there. Marlon's not equipped for jail, but Cain has a bit of experience in that area!

“Cain tells Marlon he has to toughen up, but he's also very sweet to him. Marlon is scared, though – having his freedom taken away from him for something that he didn't do is bewildering to him.”

Graham's visit to Pierce set off the chain of events that led to his death

Rhona went to see her ex in prison – but what will she make of his return?

“Pierce believes he’s Rhona’s knight in shining armour!”

IN A TOP-SECRET PRESS CONFERENCE, JONATHAN WRATHER TELLS ALL ON PIERCE’S KILLER RETURN...

In the days leading up to the much-anticipated reveal of who murdered Graham, Inside Soap was invited to a secret audience with the unnamed actor behind the killer character.

A few hours prior to this clandestine meeting, we were given privileged access to watch the big reveal episode before anyone else – and as Rhona’s convicted rapist of an ex-husband Pierce loomed out of the darkness, we were knocked for six!

While it’s of course a delight to come face to face with star Jonathan Wrather again, the last time we saw Pierce was back in the summer of 2017, when he was being sent down for raping Rhona on their wedding day. So he was the very last person we expected to be rearing his ugly head in the village once more...

What a shocker, Jonathan! You must have been sworn to secrecy for months...

It’s been a lot of fun! I’ve been shuffled in and out of the studio, and my building pass had another name and photo on it. I was ‘Mark Bloomfield’, and I was referred to as Mark in the script. I had a slight identity crisis! Half the cast didn’t know I was coming back – we’ve been keeping this amazing secret, so hopefully it pays off. But all the skulking about has added to the excitement.

How did you feel when you were asked to return?

I was thrilled, as I’d had such a good time filming here. But they couldn’t give me too many details about the story at first, so it was a bit of a leap of faith. I asked would I work with Zoe Henry [Rhona] again, and when the answer was yes, it was a no-brainer – I jumped at the chance.

Pierce is not long out of prison when we see him. Would he have stayed away from the village if not for Graham’s visit to his home?

I think most definitely he would have stayed away –

Pierce feels Graham is the catalyst for what’s happened. Pierce feels judged and humiliated by Graham. He was just getting on with his life and had no intention of contacting Rhona until meeting Graham at the flat.

But what’s his motive for murdering Graham?

He wants to rescue Rhona. Pierce is well aware that he’s been violent, coercive and abusive himself, but he sees Graham as a danger to Rhona. He reads these characters well – from his experience as a lawyer, and perhaps his time in prison has also informed him. So he wants to save Rhona from her poor decision. He’s on a moral crusade – her so-called knight in shining armour.

Can he come to terms with being a killer, though?

For Pierce, it’s justifiable. He thinks he’s helped Rhona, so he can compute that in his conscience – however skewed that is! He’s provided a service and changed Rhona’s life for the better, he believes.

Does he still have feelings for Rhona?

Realistically he’s probably burnt that bridge, but if there

“Pierce feels judged and humiliated by Graham”

Graham's finally breathed his last – and it was Pierce whodunnit!

was any chance he could be forgiven and set things straight between them, he'd jump at the chance. But that's because in his mind – as he's been having therapy in prison – he's rehabilitated.

Could Rhona take revenge against Pierce?

Would she want to, has she got it in her? Rhona is notoriously feisty and doesn't stand for anything. But she could also be terrified – Pierce is out there and what's he going to do? She certainly reacts in a way that we don't know what she's capable of – let's put it that way.

What's in store for Pierce?

Well, I can't say much – he'll be around for a little bit, and there's some very exciting stuff to come. But as always, it's not what you expect!

Allison Jones

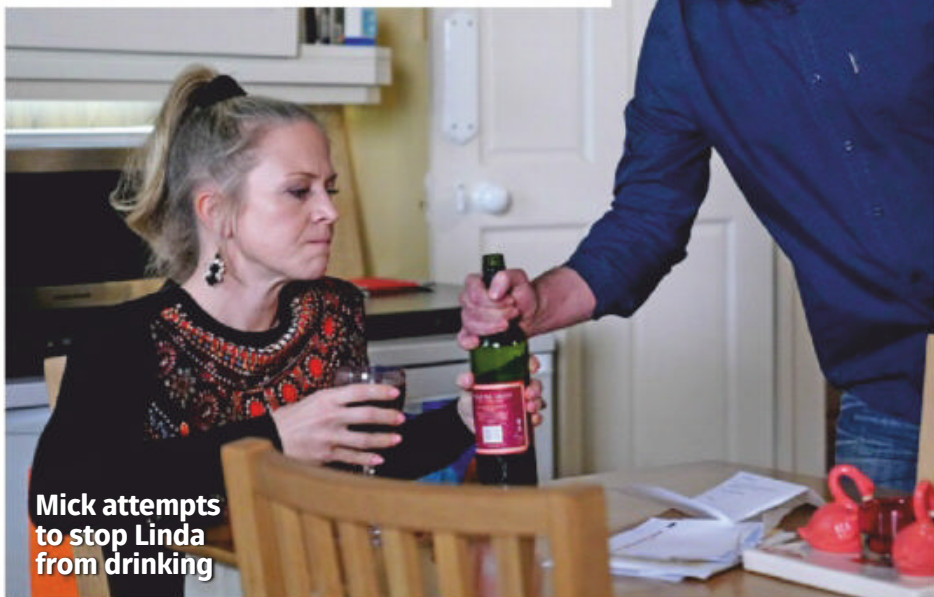

BEST OF FRENEMIES!

Jonathan had great fun filming with Andrew Scarborough – aka Graham (RIP)...

"I was so glad to meet Andrew – it was great," beams Jonathan. "We remembered that our paths had crossed once or twice at auditions in the past, but we'd never worked together before. Andrew was pumped up because it was the demise of Graham, so we just threw ourselves into it. It was a great story, and a good way for him to go, so I was thrilled to have the bits that we had together."

Mick attempts to stop Linda from drinking

Drunk Linda attacks Mick!

HER FURY CAN'T BE CONTAINED...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 FRIDAY

Obliterated Linda launches a savage, wine-fuelled attack on husband Mick this week, as the landlady's paranoia consumes her.

Linda's convinced that Mick and Shirley are plotting against her, even though they are both doing everything they can to help her. But although she agrees to go to an addiction support group, Linda's soon reaching for the bottle again, and when Mick catches her, all hell breaks loose...

"Poor Mick ends up covered in wine and being accused of plotting against Linda," shares our Albert Square source. "She makes a terrible mess, wrecks some of Ollie's drawings and goes ballistic at Mick. She's genuinely scary – it's as if she's been possessed."

The attack comes in the wake of Linda growing more and more unbalanced. She kicks off at the beginning of the week, after her bank card is declined and she realises that Mick has put a halt on the funds she can access. Returning home, Linda sinks a lorry load of booze, and when Chantelle arrives to drop off Ollie, she's shocked at the state she finds her friend in. Linda is mortified at her own behaviour, and devastated that Ollie saw her in such a condition, but worse is to come. Fuelled by drink and self-hatred, Linda slides into despair and puts Ollie in a life-threatening situation...

"The Carter family has been worried about Linda caring for Ollie in her current situation, but these fears really hit them after what she does – the youngster ends up in terrible danger," explains our informant. "This marks a real change in how they view Linda's problems."

While show bosses are remaining tight-lipped on the terrible incident, the shame of what she's done only seems to send Linda even further down a destructive path.

The whole situation blows up later in the week, when Linda misunderstands a conversation she overhears between Mick and Shirley. Fearful and hurt, this is the moment she lashes out at Mick and soaks him with red wine. And in the aftermath of the outburst, Mick makes a decision that changes everything...

Kate White

"Linda is genuinely scary – it's as if she's been possessed..."

UNLIKELY SAVIOUR?

Shirley may be the one to help her daughter-in-law...

They're the Square's No 1 'frenemies', but when the chips are down, Linda and Shirley have always been there for each other – and now it seems Shirl could be the one to pull Linda back from the abyss...

The steely mother-in-law vows to make Linda face up to her alcoholism and finds info about addiction support. Although the first attempt to attend a meeting goes awry when Linda spots Stuart on the way in, causing her to back away, Shirley finds another one in the area, and isn't taking any excuses for not attending. The pair go together and after the session, Linda breaks down, giving Shirley an insight into what's going on. Is this at last one small breakthrough in her battle?

"As someone who is no stranger to the 'healing powers' of alcohol, Shirley may understand how Linda feels better than most," shares our insider.

"But at this moment, she doesn't see a dangerous drunk wrecking her family, she sees a vulnerable woman in a lot of pain. It's a big moment for both of them."

Sharon and Linda have a heart-to-heart – can Sharon get through to her friend?

KEANU BACK FOR REVENGE!

The Mitchells haven't seen the last of him...

Ben looks set to pay a heavy price for trying to have Keanu killed, with reports suggesting his victim will kidnap Ben's lover Callum as payback in the show's dramatic 35th birthday episodes!

Stars Max Bowden and Tony Clay, aka Ben and Callum, have been filming at night at an abandoned building – where Callum could end up going through a similar ordeal to the one Keanu endured when Ben hired Martin to kill him.

"After Keanu said a tearful goodbye to his mum Karen at the airport, he seemed destined for a miserable life on the run," recalls our Square insider. "However, he's clearly picked up a trick or two from Ben and Phil, and could well turn the tables on them!"

It looks as though, along with Jay, Callum's brother Stuart will join Ben as they race to rescue him – but the drama is far from over.

Fresh pictures of the cast filming EastEnders' anniversary boat disaster also show actor Danny Walters, who plays Keanu, out on the river.

*Shock

Filming looked to be smooth sailing for grinning star Danny

Will it be Keanu's plot to destroy the Mitchell family that ends with someone losing their life in the catastrophe? Or will the arrival of Sharon's baby lure back daddy Keanu for yet another showdown?

We've got a sinking feeling about Keanu's involvement in the riverboat disaster

CORONATION STREET

MAKE OR BREAK FOR ALI & MARIA

Will a furious showdown send her running back to Gary?

Maria and Ali are going to fall back into one another's arms – but judging by our snaps of the pair having a huge row, their romantic reunion will be short-lived!

The dishy doc will be over the moon when it appears that he and Maria are back on, as she struggles to trust boyfriend Gary. However, stars Samia Longchambon and James Burrows, who play Maria and Ali, have been spotted filming tense scenes on location in his car. Ali looks ready to tear his hair out as furious Maria storms off, so is it the end of the road for the pair this time?

"Don't bet money on Maria driving off into the sunset with Ali," grimaces our cobbles insider. "But why won't she give him another chance when Gary is clearly bad news?"

Ali is no angel himself, of course, seeing as he was hooked on prescription drugs when he hastily dumped Maria. The pair grew closer again recently as Ali supported Maria through her miscarriage (turn to p47 where Samia tells us how Maria is coping in the wake of her loss), but they couldn't look more at odds in these pictures.

Ali looks particularly frazzled as he argues with Maria – so will it transpire that he has fallen off the wagon again? Or is the GP simply frustrated because Maria has broken off their relationship again, while refusing to see sense about Gary?

NOT SO DYER!

Mick lives to pull another pint...

As speculation mounts over which unlucky Walford soul will be claimed by the River Thames, EastEnders favourite Danny Dyer has pretty much confirmed that it won't be his alter ego, Mick! Speaking at a red carpet event, the actor put the nation at ease.

"I think I'm all right," winked Danny, adding that the death of the character in question came as "a massive shock to the whole cast".

Meanwhile, Danny – whose Saturday night game show The Wall has been commissioned for a second series – has no plans to wave goodbye to Walford for a while yet.

"Another 10-stretch, and then I'll take a backseat," he promised. "I'm very grateful for EastEnders. I'm working on the best soap ever to be invented..."

Maria storms off after a confrontation with Ali...

...has he blown his final chance at romance?

Is Maureen chuckling at the idea of Evelyn being romanced?

CORRIE

LOVE FOR EVELYN!

Will this man put a twinkle in her eye?

Tyrone's fearsome granny Evelyn could be set for a romance in Corrie!

Actress Maureen Lipman has been spotted filming with a mystery gentleman, and the pair appear to be getting on famously. Is it actually possible that another human being possesses the ability to melt Evelyn's stone-cold heart?

"Stranger things have happened!" exclaims our Weatherfield insider. "Rumour has it that this man, Arthur, is an old pal from Evelyn's past – but whether or not there is anything romantic between them, viewers will have to wait and see."

Maureen was joined by co-star Alan Halsall (Tyrone) as they filmed scenes on location, where Evelyn appears to be taking her beloved pooch Cerberus to the vets'. It's at the surgery that she bumps into Arthur, who viewers may recognise as actor Paul Copely – who popped up in Emmerdale in 2018, playing the part of Charity's dad Obadiah.

Scott has a dilemma on his hands – will he choose Azim?

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 WEDNESDAY

Scott's BIG decision!

WILL HE STAY IN HOLLYOAKS WITH MITCHELL, OR MOVE AWAY TO LONDON WITH AZIM?

Scott finds himself with two men fighting over him this week, after his new boyfriend Azim asks him to move to London – while his old flame, Mitchell, begs him not to go!

Scott got together with Azim in the wake of his break-up from Mitchell, although it's clear that his heart still lies with his ex. But when Scott spots Mitchell on a date with a woman this week, he decides that committing to Azim properly is the only sensible way forward for him...

"It's the classic thing with Scott where he has to make a choice between his head and his heart," explains star Ross Adams, who plays him. "His heart is definitely with Mitchell – he's fallen hard for him, and Mitchell really changed his life.

However, in Azim, he has found someone who totally accepts who he is, and is proud to be seen with him. That's important for Scott."

Things get even more complicated for Scott as Azim is offered a new job in London, and asks Scott to go with him! Scott agrees to the move, believing that Mitchell is still not ready to admit that he's gay, and packs up his stuff to leave.

As moving day arrives, Scott goes to his brother Damon for reassurance that he's making the correct choice. However, when Mitchell tracks him down at Marnie's café and begs him to stay, Scott has a big choice to make...

"This is exactly what Scott wants to hear," confirms Ross. "But he needs Mitchell to prove to him that he really “Scott realises Mitchell is still not ready to tell the world he's gay...”

Scott challenges Mitchell to go public with his sexuality that his alter ego is finally finding out what it's like to be a man in demand...

"Scott would be the first to admit that he's never been lucky in love," Ross tells us. "Also, he's just not the kind of character that you would imagine two guys to be fighting over! It's a really unusual situation for him to be in, and clearly the first time this has ever happened to Scott in his life, bless him. But I'm loving it! Scott deserves to be with someone who makes him feel special..."

Sarah Ellis

WHO TO CHOOSE?

MITCHELL 45%

AZIM 55%

"With my sensible head on, I'd be telling Scott to choose Azim, just because there's less baggage," reckons Ross Adams (Scott). "But if Scott was my friend, and I knew he was obsessed with Mitchell, I'd say to him that he should give it one last shot."

So who do the viewers think Scott should be with? We put the question out to our readers on social media, and it was a close call – 55 per cent of you think Scott should be with Azim, while only 45 per cent of you voted for Mitchell.

"Scott should be with Azim, someone who loves and respects him," said reader Gail on Facebook.

"Scott should listen to his heart," urged Jacqueline, presumably a member of Team Mitchell.

Meanwhile, Rick hoped Scott would pick Azim – so he could have hunky Mitchell for himself. Cheeky!

Mitchell is desperate for Scott to choose him over Azim means it, so he says, 'Well, if what you're saying is true, then I want you to kiss me now, in front of everyone'.

He wants to know that Mitchell isn't ashamed of him, so that they can finally be with each other properly."

So will Mitchell rise to the challenge and go public with his sexuality at last? Or will he let the love of his life slip through his fingers, as Scott heads off to start a new life with Azim? Whatever the outcome, Ross is delighted Bethany dreams of a future with Daniel!

SHE INTERPRETS HIS MIXED SIGNALS AS A GREEN LIGHT...

Bethany was in Sinead's dressing gown as she made her move on Daniel Bethany pledges her future to Daniel this week – despite the grieving widower explaining that he's not ready to get into a relationship.

Following the trauma of Bertie's measles ordeal, Daniel has been leaning on Bethany more than ever. However, what she doesn't realise is that because of his anxiety and confusion, Daniel mistook her for his dead wife Sinead when he asked her to stay the night. So as he wakes up and discovers Bethany asleep next to him on the sofa, and in Sinead's dressing gown, the situation is very awkward...

"Daniel is in the early stages of grief, and he's nowhere near ready to start thinking about another serious relationship," explains our Weatherfield insider. "Bethany has done nothing wrong, she just doesn't realise that he was confused. She is trying to be respectful, but she's deeply in love with Daniel. The problem is that Bethany is daring to believe that he feels the same way too."

Later in the day, Bethany returns home and tells mum Sarah that she and Daniel spent the night together. Sarah's shocked and worried that her daughter may be getting in too deep. And when Daniel pulls Bethany aside for a chat, he puts her straight.

"It's really tough for Daniel, because Bethany's a lovely girl and such a good friend and support to him," says our spy. "If things were different, they may be a great couple, but the reality is that Daniel can't be with anyone right now. Bethany understands what he's saying, yet instead of being put off, she tells him that she's willing to wait as long as it takes for him to be in a place where they could give things a go!"

Will Bethany see sense before Daniel inadvertently breaks her heart?

TIM WANTS TO MARRY HIS WIFE AGAIN...

Tim goes all out in order to win back Sally this week – by inviting her to her own wedding!

The couple have been in turmoil since it was revealed that Tim is a bigamist who didn't realise his wedding to a random woman in Las Vegas was legally binding.

Now that Tim's antics are public knowledge, humiliated Sally can't bring herself to have him in the house. So, in a desperate bid to win her back, Tim turns on the charm.

"Being charming doesn't come naturally to Tim – and given that Steve is his mentor in such matters, it's not looking good!" laughs our Weatherfield gossip. "The first move he makes is to play the first dance song from their wedding through the letterbox. But Sally isn't impressed at all, and tells him to sling his hook."

Although she's absolutely furious with him, the truth is that Sally still loves Tim and is gutted that they are not legally married. So, when she looks over the divorce papers Tim and Charlie have completed, she knows that it's a step forward to them being able to officially reconcile. However, what she wasn't expecting was a special invitation to be included in the mix...

Tim has sent Sally an invitation to her own wedding, a gesture designed to prove that he's serious about putting everything right. Sally isn't bowled over – in fact, she's mostly bemused. There's no way that Tim has done enough to put right all his wrongs. Is there any future for the estranged couple, or is Sally serious about putting Tim firmly in her past?

Luke offers to babysit baby Harry – will Victoria accept?

EMMERDALE | ITV FRIDAY

United by love!

VICTORIA THAWS TOWARDS WENDY AND LUKE...

The bad blood between Victoria and the Posners looks to be abating this week – as Wendy shares a tender moment with baby Harry, while Victoria looks on.

New mum Victoria has tried to keep her distance from rapist Lee's family, but that has proved impossible since Wendy moved to the village. After seeing the turmoil that Wendy was in over living down the road from her grandson and not being part of his life, Victoria reluctantly agreed to let her see baby Harry. It's not been easy, yet there's no doubt that Wendy adores her grandson, and that's a good place to start to build a relationship. But things get more intense this week, when Vic discovers that Luke wants to apply for the chef's position at the Woolpack – working next to her – is she getting too close for comfort to her rapist's family?

"While Luke has always believed and backed Victoria, having him working alongside her means he'll become a big part of her daily life," explains our Emmerdale insider. "He's respectful enough to ask her permission to apply, and he didn't need to. Vic decides to give him the go-ahead, even though she's not quite sure how it will feel when they are working side by side."

Vic's best friend, Amy, continues to worry about her letting Wendy and Luke into her life. She has seen the harrowing impact of what happened, and wants to protect Victoria from more pain and suffering. But while Victoria understands her concerns – and it doesn't sit entirely comfortably with her that Wendy is now in Harry's life – she knows she can't be the person to put the grieving mother through more anguish.

However, will she take another big step with the family this week, when Luke offers to mind little Harry for her?

Suki plays happy families!

BUT IS SHE REALLY ACCEPTING OF DAUGHTER ASH'S GIRLFRIEND?

The Panesars' overbearing mum comes face to face with daughter Ash and her girlfriend Iqra this week, as they attend Suki's birthday meal. But given Suki's strict religious views on same-sex relationships, how will the evening pan out?

Suki has only recently arrived in Walford, and it's clear that there's a lot of bad blood between her and Ash. However, it looks as though the older woman is planning to make a fresh start when she organises a family meal to celebrate her birthday...

"There's been a lot of ill feeling between Ash and the rest of her family ever since she had an abortion when she was 19," our EastEnders sneak reminds us. "And that's only been made worse by the fact that Ash has been reluctant to visit Suki since she moved out. But now Suki is living in Walford, could the pair finally put their differences behind them?"

When Vinny tells Ash about the birthday meal, he's pleased that his sister is willing to come – yet he's dismayed after her girlfriend Iqra invites herself along to the bash too. However, Ash makes it clear that her family will have to get used to the fact that she and Iqra come as a pair!

"Vinny thinks that Ash is only trying to cause trouble, as he just wants her to try to keep the peace in front of their mum," sighs our mole. "He fears that the party will have a very frosty atmosphere if Ash insists on parading her girlfriend in front of Suki. But Ash and Iqra are adamant that they aren't going to hide the truth, and you can't blame them for that."

The next day, Kheerat, Vinny and Jags are stunned when Suki greets Ash and Suki greets her daughter with a smile, as she appears to put the past behind them

"It's clear Suki is a calculating woman – she's scheming, and certainly not to be trusted..."

Suki arranges a meal for her clan – but is she really trying to make amends?

Iqra surprisingly warmly at the dinner party. So have the three brothers got their mum all wrong? And is she more open-minded about Ash being bisexual than they previously thought?

“It’s clear that Suki is a calculating woman,” warns our spy. “Just because she says something to your face, that doesn’t mean she isn’t actually thinking the complete opposite.

She’s deceptive and scheming – and certainly not to be trusted!”

Sure enough, as soon as Ash and Iqra have left the room, Suki shows her true colours, and she makes it clear to her boys what she actually thinks of her daughter’s lifestyle choices!

So what’s Suki really scheming, while she’s acting as nice as pie?

AS SHE MOVES INTO THE CANNING HOUSE, SHE'S TEMPTED TO CROSS THE LINE WITH GARY...

NEIGHBOURS | Channel 5 WEDNESDAY

Dipi seeks refuge in the Canning house this week, after the shock revelation of Shane and Roxy's kiss – leaving Shane worried that his wife is getting too close to Gary!

With Dipi settling into life with the Cannings and being well looked after by both Sheila and Gary, Shane is anxious that he'll never be able to win back his wife...

"There's a breach of trust within Shane and Dipi's relationship," explains Sharon Johal, who plays her. "There's also history of Shane not telling Dipi issues up front, and in this case, he didn't tell her about the kiss."

Not only is Dipi livid that Shane kept the illicit smooch under wraps, but the way the secret emerged wasn't subtle...

"Dipi feels betrayed by the person she loves most in the world," sighs Sharon. "By Shane not telling her about it himself, she was put in a situation where she ended up being humiliated publicly."

Dipi moved into Gary's house to give her and Shane a break. However, as Gary and Dipi are close friends, is Shane right to worry that something might happen between them?

"Shane gave Dipi such a hard time about being friends with Gary," explains Sharon. "But Dipi sees Gary as a truly platonic friend. He understands how she feels and gives her that level-headed support."

However, when Gary's son Kyle walks in on them sharing what appears to be an intimate moment, it looks as if their relationship might be growing more romantic by the minute!

REBEKAH ELMALOGLOU'S REAL-LIFE SON KAI MAKES A GUEST APPEARANCE...

One of the recruits from Buddy Club causes big trouble in Erinsborough this week – and if the actor playing the lad looks familiar, it's because he's the son of Neighbours star Rebekah Elmaloglou, aka Terese!

"For the past few years, Kai has been interested in acting, and I often run my lines with him, which he loves doing," grins proud mum Rebekah. "This role came up for a boy around his age, so he auditioned along with others – and the producers were really happy with him."

Kai's character, Caden, is one of the first intake at the club Kyle is running for troubled kids, as part of the Sonya Rebecchi Foundation. However, big drama ensues when the misguided youngster brings a gun to the meet-up!

Rebekah doesn't want to give away too much about the plot, but she does tell us that she couldn't help but act like an overprotective mum when 11-year-old Kai was on set.

"I have to admit I was hovering a bit, but the director shooed me away!" she laughs. "Kai often drops by the set, so he's familiar with it and knows

David and Kyle are shocked when they happen upon a gun a lot of the cast and crew, and he was totally relaxed."

While Kai's appearance on Neighbours is only short-term, Rebekah reveals he could follow in her footsteps and become an actor too...

"I think it's going in that direction," she says. "But he's very young, so it could all change – and I'm fine with that too!"

Sarah Ellis

Rebekah's son Kai Baker plays Caden

After witnessing Gary comforting Dipi, will Kyle warn his dad that they're getting too close? And what if Shane finds out?

"I wouldn't say the state of Dipi and Shane's relationship is dire," begins Sharon. "But Dipi is worried that after all this time she still finds it difficult to communicate in the relationship – however, she does have faith!"

Yet with Shane working with Roxy and Dipi now living with Gary, do the pair still have a chance?

"It's so sad – they're an incredibly strong couple," sighs Sharon. "They work hard to create a beautiful life for their kids. I just think they've lost their way..."

The coach arrives to take lots of cobbles locals to Blackpool

Devastated Rita Tanner discovers estranged husband Dennis has died this week, leading to her and her neighbours making a pilgrimage to Blackpool.

On the special journey – which will mark the show’s landmark 10,000th episode – Rita and close friend Ken reminisce about their lives on Coronation Street, thinking back fondly on the days when they, and Dennis, were in their prime. They are heading to Blackpool via coach to scatter Dennis’ ashes, on his request, but the journey leads to some life-changing conversations for some of the passengers. As tempers and harsh words fly, it looks as though one Weatherfield resident is ready to leave the cobbles behind...

“Rita is stunned when an urn containing Dennis’ ashes arrives, along with a note asking her to scatter them in Blackpool,” shares our Corrie insider. “While their marriage didn’t work out, Rita had a lot of love for Dennis and she’s shattered by his death. Going to Blackpool won’t be easy, but Ken agrees to go with her, then Jenny organises a coach and sets up a day trip!”

A big group boards Jenny’s coach, including Rita’s close friends Audrey, Mary, Sally and Gail. Youngsters Amy, Emma and Nina join them, alongside Sean, Carla, Eileen, Yasmeen, Ken, Tracy and Evelyn. As the driver turns out of Coronation Street, it’s clear this will be a memorable journey, especially with some sharp tongues and high spirits on board. For Rita, it’s a chance to talk about the happy times she and Dennis had, how they both loved the bright lights of Blackpool, and how much she misses those happier times. For Ken, it’s a time of contemplation as he swaps stories with Rita and reflects on the lives they’ve lived. But the warmth and joy they both feel is punctuated when there’s trouble on the bus, and it looks as if they may not make it to Blackpool at all...

“It’s all very well for Ken and Rita to be waxing lyrical about the good old days, but people like Evelyn were promised a day trip to Blackpool, and they are not happy!” whispers our spy. “Soon, tensions are rising on board, and when you have the likes of Tracy, Carla and Jenny in the mix, there’s bound to be trouble. It’s not long before it all kicks off, and what promised to be a fun trip looks set to end in disaster!”

Romance appears to be blossoming between colleagues Ayesha and Bear this week – but is The Mill boss boyfriend material?

After some very unsubtle flirting at work, Bear invites the practice nurse for lunch. Ayesha's thrilled as they arrive at the Icon and Bear refers to the meet-up as a date.

But when he abandons her to take business calls and leaves her to pick up the tab, will Ayesha reconsider her feelings? Or does Bear deserve a second chance?

FIZ VS JADE...

I can't believe Fiz lost it like that in Coronation Street! Battering Jade with that chopping board took everything to another level. Then again, they say hell hath no fury like a woman scorned – but actually, hell hath no fury like a mother whose child has been scorned! Go Fiz!

THE OLD YOU

I'm loving the loss of Sharon Mitchell and the return of Sharon Watts in EastEnders! It's fantastic to see her have the slight upper hand on the Mitchells. Sharon and Phil will always have history and be drawn back in some way – but Sharon works best when she's strong and tough, and we need to see more of that on the show!

🗨️ | Chris, Co Cork

I'm loving Sharon's new attitude as well! Let's hope it stays this way for a while.

EXCELLENT EVELYN

I have to say, I didn't warm to Evelyn when she first arrived on the Street, particularly as she seemed quite dismissive of Tyrone and his family. However, her fierce loyalty towards them in this latest storyline with Jade has shown how much she genuinely cares for them all – and I'm really enjoying watching Evelyn's character developing further.

🗨️ | Michele, London

Maureen Lipman – aka Evelyn – is Corrie's greatest treasure!

WHODUNNIT?

Who actually killed Graham? I just have to know, now! Everyone in Emmerdale seems to hate him. Honestly, I wouldn't be at all surprised if it was one of those situations where the whole of the village joined forces and bumped him off together.

🗨️ | Tom

Who'd have guessed that it was Pierce?

COMING OUT

I feel so proud of young Mitchell in Hollyoaks. I cried real tears when he finally came out to

It was a bit against the collar whether Mitchell would ever come out

📱 | Charley, Brighton

They were very emotional scenes, and Martine couldn't have reacted better.

ON THE HOUSE

With 10 pubs in the UK closing every week, how does the Woolpack in the Dales survive? Its only customers seem to be the same 30 people in the village – and many of them get drinks 'on the house'.

📱 | Colin, London

They must have a stack of 'IOU' notes from over the years – they'll make a fortune one day!

B-DAY BASH

I can't believe that Paul Robinson turned 60 on our screens in Neighbours! He's been in the show from the start, and who knew that when the Robinsons first appeared on Ramsay Street, that he'd still be here. Happy birthday, Paul!

📱 | Mary, Doncaster

We can't believe it, either! Especially as he only had his 50th in 2014...

FAREWELL, JESSE DONOVAN

After celebrating his wedding day, Jesse's sudden death in Hollyoaks came as a complete shock! Poor Courtney became a widow after just a few hours, and our readers had a lot to say about his exit...

Who knew Jesse was leaving Hollyoaks? What a way to go! But what happens to James and Grace now? Will anyone find out that they were the ones who shot Mercedes? Surely Jesse must have made a secret recording of the pair's confession!

📱 | Jemma, Swansea

Jesse and Courtney were the purest characters in the village. I'll truly miss Jesse lighting up our screens with his questionable jokes and sense of humour. I'm hoping that Courtney will stay in Hollyoaks, and one day find another man of her dreams!

📱 | Bethany

But some of you think that the soap is raising some important social issues...

As much as Jesse's death upset me in Hollyoaks, I'm really glad that they have covered the topic of alcohol poisoning. Jesse's definitely not the only one to go big on the booze, and it's good that they showed the devastating consequences. You can never be too careful! I'm hoping this will raise awareness for viewers, and do some good.

📱 | James, Borehamwood

Why has Hollyoaks killed off yet another character? It's almost as if the writers have a vendetta against their cast members! Liam Donovan better watch out, because he's bound to be next – first Adam, then Glenn and now Jesse. There won't be anyone left at the rate they're going!

Grace Black is becoming the new Tom Cunningham...

THE BIG interview

EMMERDALE | ITV MONDAY

“Every parent can sympathise with Laurel...”

As Laurel discovers the shocking truth of her son’s actions, star Charlotte Bellamy can feel her pain...

After the toughest few years, it seemed that life was finally looking up for Laurel. Having battled an addiction to alcohol, and lost her beloved husband Ashley, she’d found new love with Jai and supported her family through their heartache. But she and Jai split when the former drug addict started using again – and worse is to come for poor Laurel this week.

News reaches the village that her father-in-law Sandy has passed away, and Laurel is devastated – but it’s her son Arthur who takes Sandy’s death the hardest. In the inevitable emotional fallout, Arthur finally admits to his mum his cruel bullying of Jai’s son Archie – and while Laurel tries to deal with the consequences of the revelation, Charlotte Bellamy has every sympathy for her traumatised alter ego...

Arthur chance: Laurel wants to protect her bully son

“The story is very complex, and it’s going to get more so,” reveals the star. “But the thing is, as a parent myself, you’d always stick up for your child. You’ll always try and see the good in them, even if they’re being horrendous and a bully. You try to think of why – is it your fault? The animalistic maternal instincts kick in, and I think every parent can kind of understand that.”

It’ll be no easy task for Laurel to support Arthur following his dramatic admission, not least as it’s innocent Jimmy who’s been blamed for Archie’s bullying all these weeks. While Arthur believes Sandy’s death is a punishment from God for his treatment of Archie, Laurel has a painful predicament on her hands when Jai returns home early from rehab – and she needs to decide whether or not to come clean...

“Laurel blames herself and not Arthur,” admits Charlotte, who is mum to 15-year-old Sunnie, Herbie, aged 12, and 10-year-old Teddie with her husband Mungo.

“She’s disappointed in him and shocked, of course, but she thinks she should have paid her son more attention – that Arthur’s vulnerable and didn’t know what he was doing. It’s a real turning point in the story.

“But Laurel is also in denial. It’s a complicated, emotional journey that we’re embarking on here, which will get a lot worse. And there are other things in store that will make it even more complex...”

Since Sandy was living in Australia with his close pal Betty Eagleton at the time of his death, it falls

Bottled up: Will Laurel turn to the booze again?

Café confrontation: Laurel doesn't want to believe that Arthur has been bullying Archie upon Laurel to jet off Down Under so that she can help Betty with the funeral arrangements. Charlotte admits the decision to fly to the other side of the world will prove a welcome respite for Laurel as she stewes over the best course of action – but realises Laurel might be quick to pull a veil over the matter.

“It’s the perfect chance for Laurel to ignore the fact that she has to deal with this,” she sighs. “She feels that Arthur has enough on his plate at the moment, and that going to Australia will be a good way of burying it. That’s Laurel’s character – the matriarchal figure who doesn’t think that her child is in the wrong. She’ll protect Arthur to the end.”

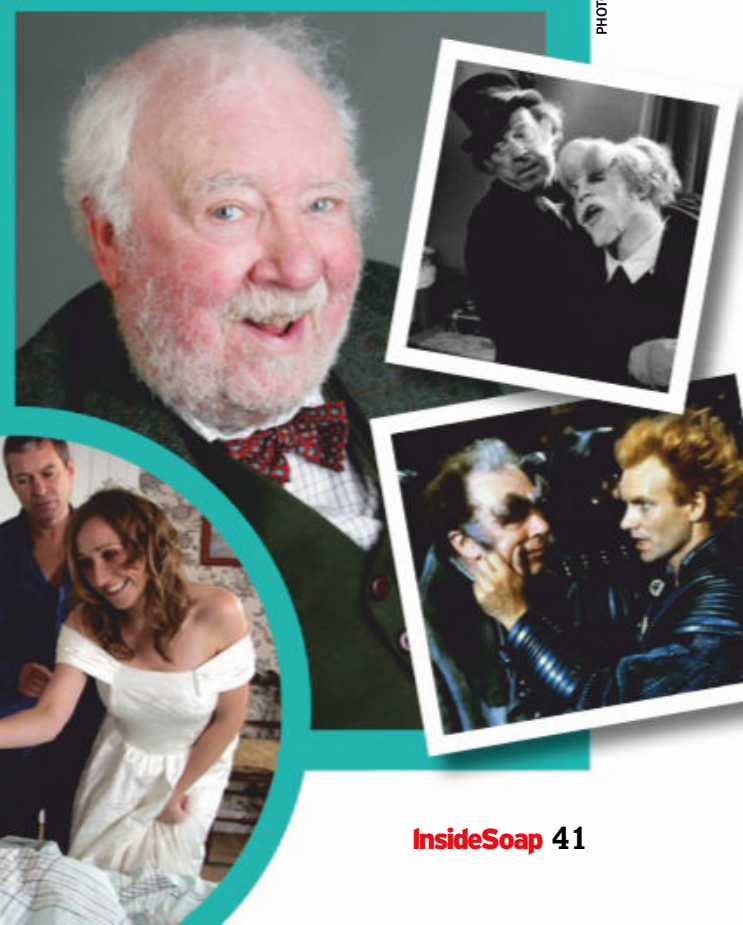

Allison Jones

Sad DEPARTURES

Sandy’s passing is an emotional tribute to the loss of Freddie Jones, the beloved actor who played him...

It’s not just the sadness of Sandy’s death that will be felt by the villagers this week – as veteran actor Freddie Jones, who played Sandy from 2005 until 2018, is also much missed by his Emmerdale co-stars after he passed away last July, aged 91.

“When a cast member dies in real life, there has to be a period where the character is not really mentioned,” shares Charlotte. “But now feels the most correct and respectful time to acknowledge the actor and his character have died, and I feel the show has dealt with it really well.”

Goodnight, NURSE

CASUALTY | BBC1 SATURDAY

“When I went for my audition for Duffy, the producer held up a picture of me and said, ‘If I needed a nurse, I’d like her to be someone like this – dependable and good at her job,’” recalls actress Cathy Shipton, aka Duffy, whose last episode of Casualty airs this week. “I didn’t realise he was offering me the role! I went home, and by the time I’d got back, he’d rung my agent to offer me the job.”

That was back in 1986, and now – over three decades later – Cathy’s bidding farewell to the show. It’s an emotional time, but the 62-year-old tells us there are no regrets about hanging up her nurse’s uniform...

Lasting legacy:
“People have told me they’ve become nurses because of Duffy,” says Cathy

CASUALTY’S CATHY SHIPTON
JOINS US FOR ONE FINAL CHAT,
AS HER ALTER EGO DUFFY BOWS
OUT OF THE SHOW FOR GOOD...

What was it like filming Duffy’s last episode after 34 years?

I knew it was going to be a huge tear-jerker when I got the script. But at the same time, there’s something beautiful about this last episode – I’m proud of how it all comes to an end. We first discussed the dementia storyline two years ago – I said, “Oh, does that mean Duffy won’t be a nurse any more?”, so I was pleased that even in the last half a dozen episodes, her nursing skills and all of that experience are still at the fore.

So you’re feeling okay about saying goodbye to Duffy?

Oh yes, completely. Particularly as this last storyline was so well-researched, and truthful. There’s not a day that goes by when people don’t talk to me about this plot, and things that have happened – or are still happening – in their lives. It’s topical and necessary, and hopefully Duffy’s story is helping other people.

We can’t say too much about the last episode, but what can you tease?

It’s a really powerful episode and totally honours the character. Duffy goes wandering out in the snow due to her dementia, and she’s confused. The snow machines were really state-of-the-art, and even though it wasn't cold that day, the minute we stepped into the snow, we all started shivering!

Duffy puts on one of her old uniforms during this episode – that must have taken you back...

It was great, as it still fitted! But I did think, 'Why did anyone ever wear these?' Derek Thompson [Charlie] and I were consulted when the uniform was remodelled a few years ago, and I opted for a tunic and trousers. And lots of nurses said, "Thank you!", as it's not the most practical wearing a skirt.

How should Duffy be remembered?

A lot of people have told me that they've become nurses because of Duffy. There's even a nurse advisor on the show who has a bangle with 'What would Duffy do?' on it! So there are people who got into the field of medicine because the creators of Casualty invented Duffy – and that's the best legacy she could leave.

Sarah Ellis

Part of the FAMILY!

Cathy didn't just make friends on set – she also met partner Christopher Guard when he was part of the Casualty cast!

"He came in to play the show's first gay nurse, who fancied Charlie," she recalls. "I was actually the one who suggested the storyline, as Charlie got a lot of gay fan mail. That was about 26 years ago!"

Cathy also reveals that it was thanks to a young Casualty guest star that she discovered she was expecting her daughter!

"I held a crying baby on set, and she went to putty in my hands," she shares. "I did a pregnancy test that night, and it was positive. It turned out the baby knew because of my pregnancy pheromones! That's a wonderful memory..."

“It takes a while for people to recognise me!”

CLAIR NORRIS TELLS US HOW SHE COPE WITH FAME AS SHE JOINS INSIDE SOAP FOR A CHAT ABOUT LIFE IN AND OUT OF WALFORD...

Who knows? Maybe Bernie will end up dating Phil!” laughs actress Clair Norris, when we ask her why Bernadette hasn’t been hanging out in The Prince Albert lately, trying to find Miss Right. While Clair points out to us that her alter ego is still only 17 – not yet old enough to be partying in Walford’s local gay bar – somehow we don’t think that’s all that’s keeping her from a night of passion with Phil! Especially as a Mitchell is the last person Bernie would be seen dead with this week, while she turns detective to get to the bottom of her brother Keanu’s disappearance...

“Bernie and Keanu have always had a special bond, so it’s odd that he’s gone off, with no indication to where he is, or if he’s okay,” explains Clair. “Given everything that has happened with Sharon and the Mitchells, Bernie is definitely worried – and Karen is being so weird about it whenever she quizzes

Where are you, Keanu?: Little sis Bernie has no idea what’s happened to her bro

Loose lips sink ships?: Bernie learns the truth from her mum, Karen her. So Bernie takes it upon herself to do some digging, to try to find out herself.”

Trouble is, Bernie risks uncovering a huge secret: Keanu is alive and in hiding – and can never come home, or the Mitchells will kill him! So when Bernie starts sniffing around, torn Karen has no choice but to let her daughter in on the ruse.

“Bernie is hurt that Karen kept something so big from her – however, eventually she realises that her mum only did what she thought was best,” shares Clair. “It’s hard for Bernie to accept that she’ll probably never see her brother again, but she’d rather Keanu be safe than in jeopardy.

It’s definitely not a case of Bernie thinking, ‘You come home, Keanu, and I’ll fight off the Mitchells!’ Though

I’m sure she would try – and definitely fail!”

The Taylors pitched up in Walford together bold as brass in 2017, and are just as close-knit off screen as they are on. So Clair admits that it was very bittersweet when star Danny Walters, who plays Keanu, waved goodbye to Albert Square.

“Danny is like an older brother to me in real life, so it’s strange that he’s not here,” says the star. “We all went out together before Christmas and had a great time – we posted a video of of us all singing in a restaurant. Thankfully, other people joined in, so it wasn’t just us in the corner singing!”

Despite saying goodbye to Danny, Walford’s younger actors have had plenty to celebrate recently with a string of 21st birthdays. Clair marked hers over a year ago with a Friends-themed bash, and since then her co-stars Zack Morris (Keegan) and Jasmine Armfield (Bex) have joined the club, throwing parties of their own at the end of last year. However, with EastEnders actors being so recognisable,

Party girl: Clair is four years older than her alter ego

She’ll be there for you: Clair enjoyed her Friends-themed party we don’t imagine that the cast can just go out like most 21-year-olds!

“I actually find it quite easy,” laughs Clair. “When I wear make-up outside of work, I look quite different from Bernie, so it takes people longer to recognise me. It’s always in the back of your mind, but you can still have fun. Most people have had a few drinks and don’t remember seeing you anyway!”

Of course, EastEnders will mark a landmark of its own when it turns 35 in a few weeks’ time. The rumour mill has gone into overdrive since bosses announced that a character will die in a boat disaster on the Thames, with paparazzi shots flooding our news pages (see p14). So, will Bernie will be on dry land, or boarding the ship of doom?

“Wait and see,” teases Clair. “Who knows? Maybe Bernie is the boat driver!”

Laura-Jayne Tyler

Bernie is hurt that Karen kept something so big from her

WALFORD DANCE FEVER!

We quiz Clair on which Square star could be destined for Strictly...

With EastEnders actress Emma Barton, who plays Honey, making the Strictly Come Dancing final last year – and Maisie Smith, aka Tiffany, scooping the Pudsey glitterball for Children In Need – we ask trained ballroom and Latin dancer Clair who she’d like to see from Walford appear on the show next...

“I’d love to see Roger [Griffiths, who plays Mitch] do Strictly,” she grins. “When we went out for Danny’s leaving do, he was up dancing the night away. He’s a bit of a mover!”

And would Clair fancy a spin around the BBC’s famous dance floor?

“I’d love to – if you dance, the dream is to be on Strictly,” she beams. “It’s an issue of ‘she’s already a dancer’, though, so it’s tricky. Who knows? I might be a professional on the show!”

“This is something that’s never been seen in soap...”

BOBBY GORDON
REVEALS THERE’S A LOT TO COME FOR TOBY AND CELESTE...

It turns out Mitchell is very popular, so people have become a bit nasty towards Toby!” laughs Bobby Gordon, who plays Toby, the long-lost son of Martine Deveraux. “I’ve learned you should never go against the soap’s golden child. I get a lot of people asking how we could do this to Mitchell, but it’s great that everyone is so invested in the characters. This is the best job I’ve ever had.”

We discovered that Toby is Mitchell’s twin brother back at Christmas, as well as the fact that he and his partner Celeste are planning revenge on the Deverauxs. This week, the pair host a housewarming party to find out more about their neighbours – but what are their true intentions?

“Well, they’ve been mischievous from the get-go,” begins Bobby. “So having a lot of people in one place gives them time to figure out who’s who and what’s what. Toby’s not interested in building friendships with anyone – there’s always an ulterior motive.”

Toby and Celeste seem to be the dream team, but then Toby begins flirting with Lisa. And later, Celeste makes a move on Romeo! So, is their marriage falling apart? Or is something a lot more sinister at play...

“Lisa seems an easy target for them,” says Bobby. “When it comes to flirting, there’s always a reason behind it. When you see the episode, you’ll think there’s something off about it. Toby and Celeste’s relationship isn’t necessarily open, and Celeste is definitely bit more promiscuous than Toby is. They have an understanding, but it’s to see in the future who will cross the line more.”

With Toby and Celeste plotting, surely it’s a matter of time before the truth comes out. Yet when it does, will Toby be ready to get to know his brother?

“I’d like that dynamic to grow,” explains Bobby. “But in reality, there are questions that need to be answered. I feel Toby’s not just going to open up – he has a lot of anger inside him.”

Meanwhile, Bobby tells us that we’ll be shocked when we hear the full truth of Toby’s history...

What’s in a name?: Celeste sets her sights on Romeo

Trouble and strife: Toby and Celeste have sinister intentions

Mitch perfect: Viewers aren't happy with Toby targeting their fave

"It's something no one's seen yet in soap," he confirms. "I think it touches on how vital the presence of a parent is for a child. It's something that will make people think about their own decisions, too."

Bobby joined Hollyoaks with Andrea Ali (Celeste) five months ago, and the pair hit it off instantly.

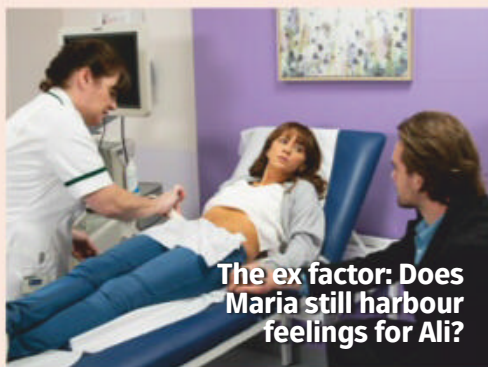

"Everyone thought Andrea and I had been friends since childhood," he grins. "We clicked straight away – Andrea is a wonderful actress. With getting this job and with Andrea coming in too, it's just blown my expectations out of the water."

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

Facing the FUTURE

In the midst of Maria's heartbreak, Samia Longchambon considers what lies ahead...

The ex factor: Does Maria still harbour feelings for Ali?

Maria's miscarriage was a heartbreaking blow for both her and her partner Gary – but as he assures her that he still wants to be with her this week, star Samia Longchambon, aka Maria, hopes that it might bring the unlikely couple closer than ever...

Hi, Samia! How do you think Maria and Gary will cope in the wake of the miscarriage?

It makes Maria question the relationship. She's been through a lot – she's anxious, and this has brought it all to the surface. She got pregnant quickly, and she's told Gary he can leave. But he wants them to make a go of it – so hopefully it'll make them stronger.

Ali was with Maria when she went to hospital – does she still have feelings for him?

I think so – but she's buried them, and is trying to be true to Gary.

It's a tough plot to film – what did you think of tackling the subject of missed vaccinations?

It needs talking about – measles is on the rise again in this country, and it shouldn't be. There are vaccinations to stop it, but people are choosing not to vaccinate their children. It can have a snowball effect, and it's important to show that.

You've been full-on filming lately – how do you find that, particularly as a working mum?

I've been suffering with mum guilt while I've been so busy. Mikey

North [aka Gary] and I have been spending all day, every day together! But my husband [Dancing On Ice pro] Sylvain is great. He's not partnered with a celeb on the show this year – it'd mean being based in London for four months, which we couldn't have done with the kids.

You've openly discussed your anxiety – have you found any new coping mechanisms?

When I can, I do yoga in my dressing room – even if it's just for 15 minutes in my lunch hour. I don't share my dressing room, so no-one sees me doing the downward dog!

BESIDE THE SEASIDE!

As Corrie celebrates 10,000 episodes with a bus to Blackpool, we look back at some other memorable excursions to Britain's favourite seaside town...

A grand day out!

In its early days, Corrie was recorded entirely within a TV studio in Manchester. The first time the show ever filmed outside was in 1961, when battleaxe Ena Sharples and her friends Martha Longhurst and Minnie Caldwell, among others, took a trip to Blackpool. Huge crowds turned out to watch the filming of just four minutes of silent footage, which was set to jaunty music in the episode itself.

Not-so Golden Mile

By contrast, Corrie's second trip to Blackpool, later in 1961, never left Manchester at all! It was faked – bus journey and all – entirely within the studio. This visit saw Ena left behind in a fortune teller's booth – trying to sniff out some juicy gossip! – while haughty Ken Barlow sneered at how low-brow and tacky Blackpool was, from the safety of a pretend South Pier!

Kiss me quick

Corrie returned to Blackpool – now in suitably lurid colour – in 1985. Rita Fairclough and Bet Lynch went prowling for men, much to the distaste of their uptight friend Mavis Riley, and were thrilled to find themselves sharing their hotel with a party of toy salesmen, equally up for mischief. But while Rita and Bet's bits of fluff ended up being more trouble than they were worth, Mavis enjoyed a sweetly romantic weekend with a real gentleman!

Life's a beach

Gail Tilsley took her two kids – little Nicky (seven) and Sarah Lou (one) – for a picnic on the beach with their dad, Brian. We wonder if they remember it? Meanwhile, Gail's mum Audrey was taken on a horse-drawn carriage ride by her admirer Malcolm Reid – to the fury of husband Alf Roberts – while old Percy Sugden tried his best to woo a roundly unimpressed Emily Bishop.

Look both ways!

Among the many perils of a visit to Blackpool are the trams that rattle along unfenced tracks on the Promenade. Indeed, it was the northbound tram to Little Bispham that famously did for Street villain Alan Bradley, as he chased Rita. (The Strand Hotel, where Rita hid from Alan, is still open today, with a plaque to mark its claim to fame!)

CONTINUED OVER ➤

Oh they do like to be BESIDE THE SEASIDE!

Vera's dream

Jack and Vera Duckworth were frequent visitors, especially after wayward son Terry decided to sell their grandchild Tommy to his maternal grandparents, who lived in the town. The Duckworths planned to retire to the seaside, and were thrilled when their offer on a house was accepted. Sadly, Vera died before her Blackpool dream came true.

A towering love!

The highlight of the big Blackpool beano of 2000 was Tyrone Dobbs proposing to Maria Sutherland atop a blustery Tower – promising that one day he would “have a garage of his own and lots of cars”. We’re still waiting, Ty! Meanwhile, Norris Cole and Vera triumphed at a ballroom dance contest in the Winter Gardens – but only after Jack spiked the drinks of their rivals!

Hold my hand!

The Barlows have never had the best of luck in Blackpool – probably as a result of Ken bad-mouthing the place back in '61! Little Simon was lost on the North Pier during a rainy night in 2010, while in the custody of his miserable grandad George – with desperate Peter, Leanne, Ken and Deirdre leading the search. A year later, Amy wandered off on the South Pier during a pretty standard bust-up between Steve and Tracy.

“You can’t beat Blackpool. There in a couple of hours in a charabanc. Everybody’s letting their hair down. You can cut the smell of shrimps and best bitter with a knife. It’s paradise.”

BET LYNCH

Look both ways! (2)

Two of Coronation Street’s favourite Blackpool clichés (almost) collided in 2016, when little Jack Webster ran away from his family and straight into the path of a speeding tram. Tragedy was averted at the last second thanks to the intervention of Jack’s own former kidnapper Jenny Bradley – ironically, the daughter of tram victim Alan!

Leading LIGHTS!

Blackpool’s famous Illuminations have been switched on by Street stars on four separate occasions. The actors lucky enough to pull the lever were: Violet Carson (Ena) in 1961, Doris Speed (Annie Walker) in 1983, Julie Goodyear and Roy Barraclough (Bet and Alec Gilroy) in 1990, and – last year – local girl Lucy Fallon (Bethany). Meanwhile, the Blackpool outpost of Madame Tussaud’s is home to the waxy doppelgangers of a host of favourites, including Ken and Deirdre, Jack and Vera, and an uncannily lifelike Michelle Connor.

Best of times, worst of times

In 2013, a trip to Blackpool was high on ailing Hayley Cropper’s ‘bucket list’ – including a paddle on the beach and a dance at the famous Tower ballroom. A year later, when Cathy and Roy embarked on a tentative romance, she took him on a surprise trip to Blackpool, without knowing of his emotional connection to the town. This faux-pas steered their own relationship gently into the friend zone.

GREGORY FINNEGAN

Hollyoaks’ James Nightingale

...faces your questions!

James is still harbouring the secret that he and Grace shot Mercedes, but will Gregory be more forthcoming as we ask him your reader questions?

“Do you remember your first day at Hollyoaks and what was it like?”

I remember it well – I only had a few scenes in what was then the Bean café. The thing I remember most was that I came in and Faye, our head of make-up, sheared me like a sheep. Any hair on my face or body at the time, there was none left when she was finished! I had a spray tan too, which I’d never had before.

“Can you tell us a secret about Lysette Anthony?”

“Can you tell us a secret about Lysette Anthony [aka Marnie]?”

What can I tell you? That’s the question! Lysette is constantly buzzing as she owns several self-massaging products. She wears a neck massager in-between takes, and has a massage seat which hums away. Lysette hasn’t offered it to me as of yet – but I’m hopeful that one day she will.

“Where is your favourite spot to film on set?”

It varies with the way things are scheduled. Sometimes if there are lots of scenes in James’ apartment, we’ll do them all on the same day, which can be quite a long stretch! But I like being in there, and I like the village too – as long as there’s good weather, otherwise it can be a bit miserable in winter. We’re about to unveil the new-look village, though, so there will be a bit more cover going forward.

“Are you pleased that James Sutton is back as John Paul?”

No – I loathe the man! No, I’m joking, he’s a good pal. It’s great that James is back on the show. It’s nice to have a mate to knock about with.

We saw a lot of each other when he was away – we’re writing some stuff together at the moment.

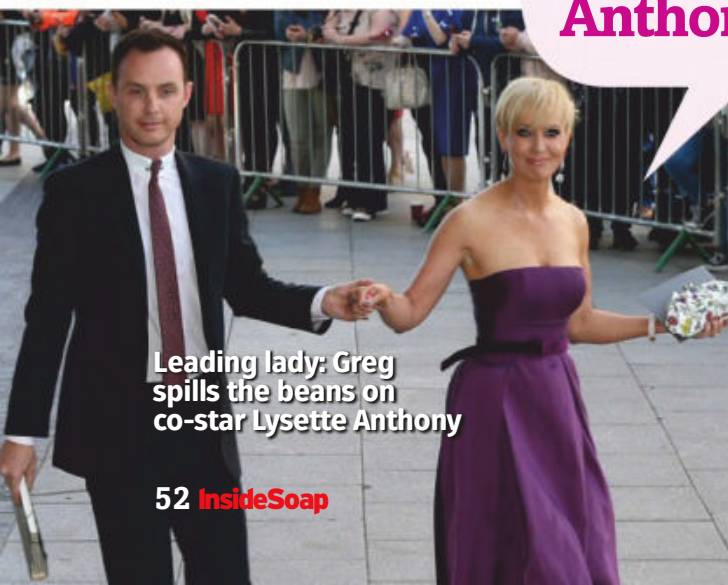

“Do you think you would make a better lawyer than James?”

No, as he’s literally the best lawyer in the country – I filmed a scene recently where I said that line. I studied law at A-level and didn’t do that well – so no, I don’t think I would be.

“What would you get up to if you and James went on a night out together?”
Oh, well, I would try to find things we have in common. We both like red wine and a good meal, so I think we'd go and watch a classic film at a nice cinema and share a bottle of wine.

"Your wife [Ariana Fraval] has recently joined the show as DS Cohen. What's it like working together, and have you worked together before?"

We have worked with one another before – very briefly – on a short film. It was bizarre, but fun at the same time. I hope we get to do more with each other. Although it's quite amusing being in Hollyoaks with Ariana, because she keeps arresting me!

"You've previously mentioned that your kids are too young to watch Hollyoaks – but have they seen you in anything else?"

I don't think they have seen me in anything else actually – maybe I should get out the showreel and make them watch it! My eldest, Rex, often comes home and repeats what some kids have said about my character at school – that James is a baddie and things like that.

"Which former co-star would you most like to see make a return?"

There are so many. I was looking at pictures of the Nightingales the other day, and I'd happily take any of the them back. But certainly Richard Linnell, who played Alfie – he's just such a lovely guy, and we'd be very happy to have him back anytime.

"Can you tell us a time when you've been star-struck?"

I once had an audition with theatre director Stephen Daldry, and I was star-struck by him. Mostly as he's about 7ft tall, and a rather imposing figure.

"What do you get up to on a typical day off work?"

"What do you get up to on a typical day off?"

Trying not to sound like too many other parents out there, but I generally run as a taxi service to clubs, and if it's during the week then I deal with the school drop-offs. But if I do get any time, which is rare, I like to go to the golf driving range for an hour's peace.

"If you hadn't gone into acting, what would you be doing for a living?"

I honestly don't know, as it never really came up. But I've done pretty much

"Are you a football fan and which team do you support?"

...asks reader Sarah Symons from Aberdeen

I'm a Tottenham Hotspur supporter, and long-suffering! Most people at Hollyoaks support Liverpool – and now my son is a Liverpool fan, so I have to go along with it. We saw Liverpool vs Sheffield United recently, which was his first time at Anfield. And we went to the Everton vs Tottenham game – we sat with the away fans, and at least I got him into a Spurs shirt that day!

every job in the book – I was an estate agent for a while. I've done all sorts of different things. I'm a jack of all trades, and hopefully a master at one.

"What would people be surprised to know about you?"

Actually, someone was talking about Robert Pattinson coming to Liverpool to film his Batman movie. What people may not know is that Robert owes his career to me! We were once both at a film audition, and it was down to the two of us. He was very nervous, so I chilled him out, gave him a bit of confidence and he got the part! Then I realised what I'd done, and that I'd screwed myself over. But the rest is history – you're welcome, Robert!

CHARLEY BE ADDING

Her character Debbie is part of the biggest clan in the Dales – now Charley Webb reckons she'd like a brood to rival them in real life! She was at the launch of Inflata Nation Peterborough with co-star hubby Matthew Wolfenden (David), and sons Buster, nine, and four-year-old Bowie, as she hinted more kids could be on the cards.

"Three at the moment is a lot, but I think that once you have three you might as well have 20, because it's just chaos!" said Charley, who's on maternity leave after giving birth to her third son, Ace, in August.

Count us out of babysitting, then!

Matthew and Charley could soon need a bigger ball pit!

Dog days!

They love all creatures great and small on Corrie – especially pooches! Beverley Callard, who plays Liz, took a snap with her dog, Norman, who's already bigger than her! It may not seem like it, but Bev got Norman as a puppy only five months ago... Meanwhile, young Isabella and William Flanagan (Hope and Joseph) – along with big sister Amelia, aka Emmerdale's April – were chuffed to bits with their new puppy, a cute little furball named Daisy. And Samia Longchambon (Maria) has introduced a new addition to her family – a beautiful little Maltese pooch called Ralf! Let's hope we'll be seeing the furry friends on screen soon...

Maria has finally found a reliable Ralf...

Could Daisy be the next Flanagan to appear in soap?

HIGH ON LIFE!

Casualty star Jason Durr – aka David – celebrated the start of 2020 by dangling off the side of a tall building! The actor challenged himself to abseil down the face of the Great Western Hospital in Swindon to raise money for CALM, a charity that supports children with cancer and Leukemia. The #DurrDangle was a great success, and Jason smashed his target of raising £1,000 for the very worthy cause. Well done!

Jason was delighted to be back on solid ground!

Going DUTCH!

It's just like filming outside on the cobbles...

The Street's Emma may be unlucky in love, but Corrie star Alexandra Mardell – who plays her – has found her soul mate! Ali and her boyfriend of two years, Joe Parker, enjoyed a romantic break in Amsterdam recently, where they snuggled up together in an ice bar. And Ali also revealed that Joe is moving in with her. Aw!

SHAKESPEARE & HATHAWAY: PRIVATE INVESTIGATORS | BBC1 WEEKDAYS

COUNTRY PURSUIT

MARK BENTON TELLS US HOW HE HAD A HAND IN RECRUITING THE MYSTERY DRAMA'S LATEST GUEST STAR...

Ever since it burst on to our screens two years ago, we've had our suspicions that being on Shakespeare & Hathaway: Private Investigators is a bit of a dream job for an actor. Look at it this way: the scripts are fun; the mysteries are compelling; you get to film in the beautiful Warwickshire countryside; and you get to work with Mark Benton and Jo Joyner, both of whom we know to be a hoot.

Turns out, we were right on the money, because when Inside TV gets on the blower to talk to Mark about series three, he reveals that he's already had some well-known pals asking to be in it...

"The first episode features Vic Reeves, who's a good friend of mine and who loves the show," says Mark. "He sort of mentioned to me, 'Oh, I'd love to be in it', so he's there and he does a brilliant performance. He plays an old arch-enemy of mine who comes back, and Frank thinks he's the murderer and would do anything to catch him! It's a great episode, set in a big, old-style bingo hall. I was really tempted to stop and have a game afterwards – well, some of the crew did!"

SEEING STARS

Vic's not the only famous face we can expect to see popping up in a guest role in the latest 10-episode run, either, as Mark confirms there are more stars set to make an appearance.

"We've got Don Gilet and Tamzin Outhwaite," shares the actor. "It always shocks us how many great guests we get into the series. I think we do our best to keep the quality of the show to a certain standard, so hopefully that's what attracts them."

While Mark is indeed keen to make sure the show is as good as it can possibly be, he also readily admits that he and Jo Joyner, who plays his crime-solving partner Luella Shakespeare, do have a tendency to get the giggles when they're filming.

"We're both terrible chucklers, and I'm always trying to make Jo laugh!" confesses the star. "I succeed quite a lot, actually! But I think as long as we're having fun, then that bleeds into the show, and I think that's what people really latch on to."

BEAUTY SPOT

And if one of the highlights for you in the show is seeing the stunning landscapes of Stratford-upon-Avon and its surroundings, you're definitely in for a treat this time around. Just spare a thought for Mark and Jo and the other cast members, though, doing their best not to look too chilly...

"We tend to start filming in September and finish in December," Mark points out. "Our coats and jumpers get gradually thicker through the show! But we do get to go to places we'd never dream of, like beautiful old country houses – one of them had a lake in the garden, it was stunning. There are some amazing locations, most of which we both want to buy, but obviously can't! The flipside is that sometimes we end up in an old carpet warehouse or a car park – so it's swings and roundabouts!"

Actor Riley Jones tells us all about his dream viewing...

I've been watching White House Farm, which I think is brilliant. Although it's a famous case, I don't really know much about it. I love crime dramas anyway, but when they're based on a true event – and something as horrific as that – it's interesting to see how it all unfolds. I'm desperate to read up on it a bit more, but I want it to remain a mystery to me until the series finishes!

a man coming out at the same time as me who made the passing comment, "Welcome to modern Britain" – we ended up going for a coffee and chatting about the film for two hours!

The Netflix programme Living With Yourself, with Paul Rudd, was another one I liked. It's one of those where you watch the first episode and think, "I can see where the plot's going" – then they drop a massive bombshell. It really did pull the rug out from under me!

The Two Ronnies

I absolutely love The Two Ronnies.

When I was a kid, I'd record it on tape and transcribe the scenes! I even tried to write my own version of their Mastermind sketch using more modern references to see if I could work out how to do it.

The most affecting film I've seen recently is Ken Loach's Sorry We Missed You.

I'd been to see it by myself, and when I came out I was like, "I need to talk about it!" There was

BEST HOME COOK | BBC1 THURSDAY

DURING ITS FIRST SERIES, THIS show came in for a bit of criticism for trying too hard to be a replacement for GBBO, but in its second run we think it has figured out its own identity quite nicely. Sure, the similarities are there – there are still three rounds per episode, and Mary Berry is one of the judges – but it all feels a bit calmer and more nurturing than the ridiculously high-stakes challenges we've seen in the marquee in recent years. Plus, our dentist would surely agree that it's good to have more savoury dishes on the menu – and we're very excited for this week's Ultimate Family Pies...

REMOTE CONTROL

WALEED ZUAITER AND BERTIE CARVEL STAR IN A NEW DRAMA SET IN OCCUPIED IRAQ...

Blending a thriller with recent political history, six-part drama Baghdad Central is set in Iraq in 2003, when the country was under the rule of a US-led coalition. It's an uneasy time for the nation, but particularly so for former police inspector Muhsin al-Khafaji (Waleed Zuaiter), whose daughter is missing and may be in danger. Meanwhile, British policeman Frank Temple (Bertie Carvel) is tasked with rebuilding the Iraqi Police Service, and he wants Khafaji to help him...

Waleed, what was the draw of this series for you?

Waleed I didn't want to do the audition – I'd not long lost my father, so I was feeling really down, but my agent had been tracking it for a couple of years and said, "It feels like it's been written for you." I didn't want to play another accented Arab on Western television, but when I did the self-tape audition and spoke the words, I had a feeling that this character and project were special. The writing is so rich and character-driven.

Bertie, how has Temple ended up in Iraq?

Bertie In my head, Temple has worked in the public sector for a long time, and he sees an opportunity for power and influence – and maybe to do some good. But because you've got this military occupation, one realises how thin civilisation is. In extreme circumstances, people can start to behave in a slightly medieval way.

The show switches between English and Arabic – what was that like to film?

MARY BEARD'S SHOCK OF THE NUDE | BBC2 MONDAY

THE NAKED TRUTH

MARY BEARD EXPLORES OUR COMPLICATED RELATIONSHIP WITH THE NAKED FORM IN ART...

Galleries and museums across the world are filled with paintings and sculptures depicting the naked human body, yet, it's often something that causes a stir. In this new two-parter, Mary Beard is on a mission to find out what it is about nudity in art that unsettles us...

"We have a combination of taking it absolutely for granted and sometimes being quite shocked by it," Mary tells Inside TV. "In the series, we think about what the shock of the nude is: why we get cross with it. And we ask, why do we like looking at each other without our clothes on?"

The answer is more complex than you might assume: for starters, our values have changed through history...

"If you go back to the Greeks and the Romans, they had no into it. To the audience, it's obviously in English sometimes, but for us, it was as if we were speaking in Arabic, because it's that intimate world.

Bertie I had a scene in Arabic, but they cut it. I'm not kidding! I thought it was a really smart piece of character-writing that of course Temple would have tried to learn Arabic – but it must have been terrible!

problem about seeing the willy full-on," points out Mary. "But they were anxious about the female nude. I think it's interesting in 21st-century culture that we're worked up about seeing male genitalia on telly, yet we're more laid-back about females'."

While Mary chuckles that she suspects people might expect her to "wag my finger and tell you it's wicked to enjoy the nude", she insists that's not what it's about.

"I'd just like viewers to look at nudes differently," she reflects. "What we're trying to do is say, sometimes be a bit more surprised by them than you usually are."

YOUSSEF KERKOUR AND RUFUS JONES TELL US WHAT'S HAPPENING IN SAMI'S WORLD AS THE COMEDY RETURNS...

The first series of comedy Home, in which Syrian asylum seeker Sami moved in with Dorking couple Peter and Katy after smuggling himself into the country in the boot of their car, ended on a hopeful note, as Sami had his interview with the Home Office. As series two begins, however, it's 182 days later and Sami is still waiting for an answer...

"When I was doing the research, you realise it's not an overnight 'yes' or 'no' with most refugees," reveals Rufus Jones, who writes the show and plays Peter. "They have to wait, and it becomes a sort of psychological test, which breaks a lot of people. So what we find is Sami not being that happy."

"Because his case takes over six months, the cracks in the system grow wider," adds Youssef Kerkour, who plays Sami. "There aren't many places to put people up, so he ends up staying in a surprising place."

Sami's frustration at being kept in limbo boils over in the opening episode, and it's Peter who comes to the rescue. But Sami isn't the only one who'll be put through the wringer...

"We remain focused on Sami," explains Rufus, "but it's fair to say we all have greater battles to fight this time..."

Heart and sole

After four weeks of auditions, the power switches to the viewers at home tonight, as The Greatest Dancer goes live for the first time this series. As before, the contestants who have made it this far will be working with their dance captains on a routine that incorporates a particular challenge or theme, which last year ranged from things like 'sport' to 'Doctor Who'. Each dance captain has three acts in the running, and the competition between them is fierce...

"I think Cheryl has a strong squad this year," admits Matthew Morrison. "Lily and Joseph are amazing – they almost intimidate me as they are so strong at a young age, and they have that cuteness factor no one else has."

THE BRITISH ACADEMY FILM AWARDS 2020 | BBC1 9PM

Popcorn prizes

Devoted cinephiles that we are here at Inside TV, this is a very busy time of year for us because it's usually when all of the big awards contenders hit the multiplexes (then again, we're still baffled as to how there are films nominated tonight that aren't even out yet in this country). Needless to say, we have very strong opinions about what we want to happen tonight, like how Little Women should win everything. Including Best Director for Greta Gerwig, even though she's not actually nominated, because she should have been.

Ahem. Anyway, Graham Norton is on hosting duties this year, and Joker is currently the leader of the pack with 11 nominations – but will it be a big winner on the night?

CALL THE MIDWIFE | BBC1 8PM

How do you solve a problem like Sister Monica Joan? She's vexed this week because The Sound Of Music is playing at the local cinema and she yearns to see it, but her request for a group outing is swiftly dismissed by Sister Julianne, who views the film as "both frivolous and inappropriate". In non-cinematic news, Samantha Spiro has a guest-starring role tonight as Grace Calthorpe, who's caring for both her sick husband Albert and her ailing mother – but the multiple demands on her time are making it impossible for her to keep the appointments she's been making with Dr Turner about her own health concerns.

SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE | Sky Comedy 9PM

Now in its fifth (!) decade, the legendary American comedy show continues tonight – albeit 24 hours after its US broadcast. Since its inception in 1975, SNL has introduced us to the likes of Dan Aykroyd, Bill Murray, Adam Sandler and Eddie Murphy – the latter of whom made an impressive return last season – deploying a different celeb guest host each week. Tonight, that role goes to NFL star JJ Watt...

MAGNUM P.I. | Sky One 8PM

The gang from Hawaii Five-0 makes a crossover appearance this week, as Magnum comes to the aid of lawyer girlfriend Abby Miller, after she realises that the client she successfully defended in a murder trial is actually, er, guilty. Oops.

BEAUTY LAID BARE | BBC3 6AM

Catch all three episodes of this new series, in which four 20-somethings with differing attitudes towards make-up spend two weeks in the US investigating the occasionally ugly secrets of the multi-billion-dollar beauty industry.

INSIDE NO 9 | BBC2 10PM

Kicking off

Steve Pemberton and Ralf Little must have some sort of TV-crossover deal going on this week, as not only does the latter crop up in this new series of No 9, but also starts a stint in Death In Paradise this week (more on Thursday) in an episode that guest-stars Mr Pemberton. Pass the paracetamol, please.

Anyway, back to tonight, and Ralf joins Dipo Ola, Steve Speirs and David Morrissey in this footie-centred episode. As Steve explains, "The referees' changing room is a space most of us don't think about often, but it struck us as an interesting idea to set an episode there." And lo, a clash between United and Rovers in the last match of the season is safely in the care of the four match officials. Well, maybe not that safely...

SILENT WITNESS | BBC1 9PM

This week's two-part story brings series 23 to a close, and Thomas is investigating the case of John Sealy – a soldier who died during a military training exercise involving exposure to CS gas. It initially appears that the serviceman died from an aneurism, but when Thomas performs a post-mortem on the body and discovers the trace of a possible nerve agent in his system, John's family needs more answers. And not that we want to give away too many spoilers for tomorrow night's grand finale, but let's just say that one of the main Lyell team ends up fighting for their life...

UNIVERSAL CREDIT: INSIDE THE WELFARE STATE | BBC2 9PM

Credit where it's due

The government's stated aim with Universal Credit was to simplify the benefits system and provide more incentive to get unemployed people back into work – but since it was introduced in 2010, it has attracted a lot of criticism, with many claimants finding the system impenetrable and running up debts while they wait to receive their money.

This new three-part series shows us what's going on behind the scenes at the Department for Work and Pensions, starting at ground level in Peckham JobCentre. Among those sharing their stories in tonight's episode is Karen, one of the longest-serving members of staff there, who has to work a second job to make ends meet.

MIDSOMER MURDERS | ITV 8PM

If we lived in Midsomer County, we wouldn't turn up to a public event without a bulletproof vest and a hazmat suit, but clearly some people won't be told, and in tonight's episode property mogul Alexander Beauvoisin is fatally shot during a presentation at a local museum. Beauvoisin turns out not to have been all that popular with local residents, due to his position as a landlord with a known track record of letting his rental properties fall into disrepair and endangering the inhabitants. So Barnaby and Winter end up with a very long list of suspects as they meet his various tenants and hear their extensive grievances...

BRITAIN'S MOST EXPENSIVE HOME: BUILDING FOR A BILLIONAIRE | Channel 4 9PM

Going for gold

Martin Roberts would be all over this property makeover show, in which a £65-million refurbishment of 50,000 square foot of living space in Mayfair (where else?) is taking place. It belongs to philanthropist John Caudwell, who sold Phones 4u in 2006 for close to £1.5 billion, and who's aiming to create one of Britain's most lavish homes.

The build is running behind schedule and over budget (er, are we meant to feel bad?), and among the unique engineering tasks to finish is a dining room with a river of live fish. As the last of the 20,000 sheets of gold leaf go on the walls (pffft), can the design teams pull off this epic transformation before John's birthday in just a few weeks' time? Homes Under The Hammer this ain't.

WHITE HOUSE FARM | ITV 9PM

If, like Vera's Riley Jones in our Couch Potato this week, you're not all that familiar with the horrific true events that form the basis of this brilliant drama, try to continue to resist the temptation to Google the case, as you've only got tonight's episode and the finale to go – and it's seriously gripping stuff. In this penultimate show, Taff still remains unconvinced of Bamber's guilt, despite the testimony of a vital witness confirming a number of Stan and Mick's suspicions. And so the police are forced to question what they thought they knew – and to pursue the case against Jeremy...

THE RIGHTEOUS GEMSTONES | Sky Comedy 9PM

In this new comedy following American televangelists the Gemstones, minister Jesse has taken the congregation that his father Eli (played by John Goodman) built up and used it to build a modern-day megachurch. In tonight's opener, Jesse gets a video from blackmailers seeking to sully his (somewhat shonky) reputation, while Eli goes ahead with plans to expand the Gemstone empire...

HYPOTHETICAL | Dave 10PM

Josh Widdicombe and James Acaster return to pose more absurd hypothetical situations to comedians and see how they might react to them. Rob Beckett, Sara Barron (her again!), Jonathan Ross and Maisie Adam step up tonight.

FINDING JOY | W 10PM

Amy Huberman writes and stars in this new Irish comedy about Joy, who likes her life just the way it is. But when Joy is reluctantly signed up to cover for popular vlogger Flora The Happy Hunter, she has to step outside of her comfort zone...

BARRYMORE: THE BODY IN THE POOL | Channel 4 9PM

Body of evidence

In the 80s and 90s, presenter and game show host Michael Barrymore was one of the most popular and highest-paid entertainers in Britain. Then, in the small hours of 31 March 2001, a lifeless body was found in the swimming pool of his Essex home. Nineteen years later, the events surrounding 31-year-old Stuart Lubbock's death remain a mystery.

This documentary explores the story more closely, via unseen material from Essex Police and conversations with those closest to the case (note: not Barrymore), such as the Lubbock family, detectives, forensic pathologists and eyewitnesses, to determine what really happened that night, and the extraordinary events that followed...

DEATH IN PARADISE | BBC1 9PM

Celebrations at the launch of the new Saint Marie luxury resort are cut short tonight, when developer Neil Henderson's (Steve Pemberton) daughter is found electrocuted in her hotel bath with the door locked from the inside. All very Inside No 9, that. When the team calls for back-up, enter new DI, Neville Parker, played by Ralf Little. As he tells Inside TV, "I've been doing this job 22 years, and you develop a bit of a cynical hide about jobs, but with this one, there was none of that: it was like, 'Yes! Of course! I'm gonna go and solve murders in the Caribbean!' It was an absolute dream call to get."

HOLIDAYING WITH JANE McDONALD & FRIENDS | Channel 5 9PM

Pisa the action

We're sure there are people out there who have criticised this series for being a bit lightweight, but we don't care. All we know is that watching Jane and her showbiz pals checking out some lovely-looking holiday hotspots is our absolute favourite way to wind down at the end of a busy week. Sadly for us, tonight's episode is the last in the current run, so we'll need to work on new relaxation techniques before next Friday.

Tonight, Jane enjoys a bit of a staycation as she heads to York and checks into the city's five-star Grand hotel, while James and Ola Jordan head off for their last baby-free holiday for a while at an adults-only resort in Crete. Finally, Johnny Ball takes a solos holiday to Italy to see Pisa and Siena...

KING GARY | BBC1 9.30PM

In honour of Big Gary's birthday, Gary has arranged for the whole family to have a day out at an indoor mini golf course – one that he claims not to have been to before, but he's suspiciously well known by the man on the front desk. Whether Gary's been visiting on the sly to give himself a better chance of besting his dad during their head-to-head game, we couldn't possibly say – but the tension between them certainly isn't helped by Winkle inviting himself along against Gary's wishes. Meanwhile, Terri decides to sit out the golf while she ruminates on an ethical dilemma, and Denise is just enjoying the side plates.

LOCKE & KEY | Netflix

Based on the series of comic books by Joe Hill, this 10-part supernatural series follows the Locke family who relocate to Matheson, Massachusetts, after the shocking murder of patriarch Rendell, to live in his ancestral home. Siblings Tyler, Kinsey and Bode soon discover that the house also comes with otherworldly keys which empower the kids with special abilities – but an evil force also knows about said keys, and is desperate to claim them for himself...

PUBLIC ENEMY | Sky Atlantic 9PM

Series one of this Belgian crime drama – about a police officer guarding a recently-paroled child killer – was gripping and had a very satisfying ending. So we have high hopes for this second run, as Chloé finds her path crossing with Guy's again.

JUST ONE LOOK | More4 9PM

If you enjoyed The Stranger on Netflix recently, this French drama is also adapted from a Harlan Coben novel. Eva is distressed when her husband disappears – shortly after she finds a photo of him with people she doesn't recognise.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

SIÂN REEVES (Charlie Wood, Corrie)

OUT Her short stint as Tim's long-lost wife Charlie is about to come to an end, but actress Siân Reeves is hoping for a return to the cobbles in the not-too-distant future.

"I couldn't possibly say, but yes, it would be nice," she said on ITV's Lorraine.

The star's next role is in a production of By The Waters Of Liverpool, but she encouraged fans to "tweet in" if they want Charlie back.

You heard her – do it! Next month

JUNE BROWN (Dot Branning, EastEnders)

IN Dot will be spending time away from Albert

Square for a while, as she's gone on one of her regular trips to Ireland in order to visit grandson Charlie. But she'll be back in Walford later in the year, with June Brown having no plans to give up her famous role any time soon. "She's an EastEnders icon," shares an insider.

And so say all of us!

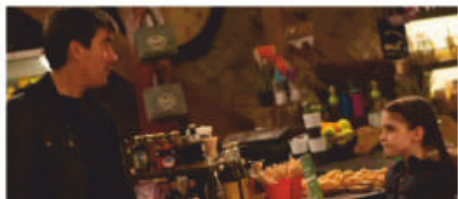

JODI ANASTA (Elly Conway, Neighbours)

OUT After spending the past four years on Ramsay Street, Jodi is preparing to say goodbye to her alter ego. "Four years have just flown by, and for an actor, my character Elly has been an absolute gift," says Jodi. "I am so grateful for my time on Neighbours, and thrilled that I'll be part of the 35th anniversary of the show." However, Jodi says that she feels "it's the right time to move on, open myself up to other opportunities, and also move back to Sydney where I can spend more time with my daughter". And it seems Elly will be leaving with a bang! "The writers have navigated a brilliant exit storyline, which I'll be filming over the coming months – can't say too much, but I think fans will love it. I couldn't ask for a better way to sign off from Ramsay Street." Later this year

THE EX FILES

Your update on the one-time stars of soap...

KEMPING IT UP!

Ex-Walford star Martin Kemp (Steve Owen) is joining forces with his brother Gary for a new BBC mockumentary. The pair, who were members of 1980s new romantics Spandau Ballet, will be discussing their plans to record a new album in the spoof doc. "I'm really happy to be getting back in the limelight," grins Martin, "and being known for being that one from Spandau Ballet who hit someone over the head with an ashtray in EastEnders."

"DON'T CALL ME 'LES'!"

It's been over a decade since he played Les Battersby in Corrie, and actor Bruce Jones is sick of being known as his former alter ego. "Les' name will never go," he told the Daily Star. "I sometimes say, 'My name's not Les, it's Bruce', especially when it is someone shouting it across the room. It really does get on my nerves. My name is not Les." Sorry about that, Les!

IS PAUL TRUEMAN STILL ALIVE?

More than 15 years after Patrick's son Paul was brutally murdered in EastEnders, his alter ego Gary Beadle has been considering if there's any wiggle room for a return. "All the hardcore fans say [we never saw it on screen] – including my mother!" he chuckles. "You can never say never, but as far as I'm concerned he's a goner. But if the BBC said, 'Listen, we want to do something', you cross those bridges when you come to them." As we witnessed Patrick identifying Paul's dead body back in 2005, it would certainly require a pretty big bridge!

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

"It's just like Jurassic Park!" gushed April about Hawksford Outdoor Pursuits Centre. Oh, yes. Identical in every way.

If there's now a vacancy in the royal family, we nominate Sharon. Bow down, Britain! Bow before your new Queen!

We really felt for put-upon Corrie extra Dom, who has been hastily promoted to Bistro chef in the event of Robert's untimely death. Poor guy looks like he'd rather stick his head in the oven.

Thank mercy for the fleeting joy that was 'Vanity' this week!

You know how Mick and Linda aren't allowed to cheat on each other cos it's The Rules? But could her alcoholism be the thing that gives him the green light for something a bit juicy – finally? There is only so much more of his sad little face we can take.

BULLSEYE!

In one shared befuddled moment, viewers squinted at their tellies as Graham's murderer was revealed and went, "Is that... Pierce? Oh! Riiiiight." Emmerdale has never lost its ability to shock – and what an outrageous twist! Though, perhaps not as outrageous as Graham repeatedly sitting up like the Terminator, even after being bashed over the head 47 times. Are we absolutely sure he's dead?

We'll never tire of a Sian Reeves casting in any soap. And is it too much to ask that she goes full-on Emmerdale's Sally Spode on Tim and Sally?

We're never going to forget Rishi wrestling a pizza box from his own son like some sort of animal – and that's before he realised it contained drugs.

We like that Fiz and Tyrone have taken the precaution of wiring Hope's bed up to the mains.

EastEnders' 'Mr Honey Roast' would deserve a storyline if it wasn't for his – wait for it – hammy acting.

Linda's 'Keanu's not really dead' face while scoffing chips was worth every penny of our licence fee. Classic!

We'd love it if Stuart and Rainie started bumping people off because they truly believed it was in the best interests of Coker & Mitchell. But in a funny way, not the usual Walford murder-y way.
